

SLADA Hosts Free Telecommunications Consultations to Help Reduce your Monthly Telecom Expenses

Paying too much for telecommunications at your dealership? The answer is most likely yes. Every company has their angles. Phone companies want to sell you over-priced phone lines and data providers try to convince you that you need more bandwidth for more money.

SLADA has partnered with NetPro, an objective communications management company, to help you navigate through your monthly telecom bills to see where you can reduce your expenses.

Bring your phone, Internet, and any other telecom bills you might have and receive a free analysis by a NetPro consultant who will tell you where you can immediately cut costs without reducing your level or quality of service.
